Between Us

One has but to ride over town to feel that spring is just around the corner. The yards are filled with narcissus, flowering quince, hyacinths, and but certainly most numerous are the many camellias in full bloom at this time of the year. An Oliver has about forty-five different plants, and right now they are lovely. From now until late summer flowers will be appearing everywhere, while for the past few months we have had no colors. Cora Smith's camellias are also blooming, and where they can be seen from the street. Most of the flowers nowadays are hid from view of the passerby, and if we are not lucky enough to be invited to drop by and see them we miss the prettier yards. Margaret Lightfoot, who is very attractive, moved here several months ago from Millen. Margaret has been helping her father in the store since coming here and every morning, come rain or shine, there is always a lovely big camellia by the cash register. It would only take one guess to find out who brings the flower by an sure the one who leaves them many bushes in his yard. Sue Snipes and Johnny Cox are doing a great job in our county working for the state education board, using Bulloch county as an experiment project in the field of education. Sue was attractively dressed one afternoon recently at a meeting in a navy blue dress and navy hat. Surely no two people look more alike than Sue Parker and Jane Allison, the movie star. Sue and Frank lived here several months ago and then Frank was transferred to Swainsboro. They have moved back here and have the E. Bushing garage standing. However, while away they had a daughter who is as pretty as her mother. The baby is little Judy Edge, the very young daughter of Barbara and John Edge, is something to make her proud daddy try to get leaves home often to see—Glenn Jennings Jr. and Jerry Fletcher delighted the Rotary Club recently with humorous readings, along with John Lightfoot, who sang several numbers. The club is having a party to be held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Darley, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Woods and son, Jimmy, have returned to their home in Roanoke Rapids, N. C., after spending two weeks with her parents, Elder and Mrs. A. E. Tamples.

The young couple were married on January 2nd at Christ church, Thorpe Bay, Essex. The groom is the son of Mrs. Mary Kennedy Bowen and the late Ed Kennedy. Sgt. Kennedy is in the Air Corps, being sent to England eighteen months ago, later being transferred to France.

LOVELY PARTY FOR COLLEGE SENIORS

One of the loveliest parties of the week was the buffet supper given Wednesday evening by Mrs. Wayne Culbreth at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Remington, with members of the senior class of Teachers College as guests. The lace covered table was centered with an attractive arrangement of camellias, flowering quince and other spring flowers. Mrs. Culbreth is president of her class. Guests present included Robert Donaldson and Miss Wilma Baugh, sponsors, and Misses Adell Callaway, Margaret Bunn, Helen Rowe, Frances Hill, Helen Hutchison, Beth Stanfield, Grace Trapp, Louise Tompkins, Margaret Strickland, Sara Riggins, Gloria Durance and Sara Clegg, and Mrs. Katherine Rowe Brown, Reginald Thompson, Henry Shearouse, Robert Moore, Winton Woodward, W. ARNALL OPPOSES SALARY INCREASES

Says He Will Not Accept Increase If Voted by People During His Term in Office

Dramatically warning the legislature that an end must come to the "reckless" spending of public funds, Governor Ellis Arnall last week very pointedly told a joint session of the senate and house that "if you pass bills now pending giving tax exemptions and increasing salaries and benefits, no magician can possibly make this state tick!"

The Governor asserted he was highly apprehensive of the trend developing in the general assembly with reference to state expenditures, and he feared "we might well write a record we will not be proud of and that the people will condemn."

"That time has come," he declared pointedly, "for us to get tough. I admit that I am partly to blame because I had hoped that the legislature would stop these bills. But evidently the legislature expected me to stop them. Let's get together and all stop them."

He said he knew the way to be popular was to vote for all appropriation bills and against all tax bills, but that this cannot be done in the present emergency without bankrupting the state. And if all the salary increases pending are approved and all the tax-exemption measures are adopted, no matter the state budget, he added.

"You've got to hold the line and learn to say no. The people expect you to enforce business principles in Georgia." He said he was having a veto stamp made, and added: "I intend to use it."

Following the address, Governor Arnall issued a statement that he himself would not accept a penny of the $4,500 pay increase proposed by the Governor in the new constitution. He added:

"I opposed increasing the governor's pay when I served as chairman of the constitutional redrafting commission. I will not accept it if it is approved. I will not accept a single penny of the increase provided for by this measure. I can for office when the pay was $7,500. I don't think it is right to increase my pay during the term for which I was elected."

The Governor asked the people to make their wishes known as to the measures pending in the Assembly, and that the lawmakers might distinguish the people's voice from that of a selfish minority group.

IS PROPER SEASON PLANT COVER CROP

Lespedeza Has Varied and Many Important Uses, County Farm Agent Says

Lespedeza is a crop of many uses. It can be cut for hay or used for grazing; it produces abundant seed for farm use and for sale and it controls erosion and improves the soil. Byron Dyer, county agent, declared this week.

"Although lespedeza makes its best growth on moist fertile soil, its real value is its ability to make enough growth on less fertile land to justify its seeding," Mr. Dyer said. "Its growth can be increased greatly by the use of lime, phosphate and potash."

Bulloch county farmers should sow their lespedeza in February, the agent pointed out. One of the best methods for planting is to broadcast 30 to 40 pounds of seed to the acre and cover them lightly by harrowing.

SKILLED SPEAKER CHARMS HEARERS

Dr. Crosley Morgan Leads Union Bible Conference During the Present Week

A most unique and attractive personality is Dr. Crosley Morgan, who during the present week is engaged in the conduct of a union Bible conference in Statesboro under auspices of the churches of the city.

Arriving Saturday, Dr. Morgan began his program with his appearance Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church. In the evening he transferred to the Methodist church, where another full house met him. During the remainder of the week—until Friday evening—that will be his schedule, at the Presbyterian church in the morning and at the Methodist church in the evening.

Dr. Morgan is a man of rare talents and charm of manner. His entire series of discourses are upon a non-sectarian basis, and are interpretations of the Holy Scriptures as the Word of God. He is manifestly a student of rare capacity, and his words are easy to follow and convincing. He is the son of G. Campbell Morgan, an outstanding English minister who toured this country some twenty more years ago and was so popularly recognized. (The inference was given in a recent reference that Dr. Campbell Morgan is not living, however his son here explains that he is still alive and vigorous of body and mind, engaged in the writing of religious literature though well past the eighty-year mark.)

Dr. Crosley Morgan is of a family of ministers. He explained that his grandfather was a minister of his denomination in England known as Hardshell Baptists. (The Doctor might have added that this element is not entirely unknown in Bulloch county.) Dr. Morgan's father, G. Campbell Morgan, sought membership in the Methodist church in England and was rejected by a committee upon hearing his trial sermon, whereupon he affiliated with the Congregational church. Three of Dr. Morgan's brothers are ministers, two Presbyterian and one Baptist.

Dr. Morgan was a guest at Rotary Club luncheon Monday and gave a most informative talk on "The Holy Bible as the Word of God." His last service will be that at the Methodist church Friday evening.

Northcutts Return Live in Statesboro

Their many friends throughout this section are pleased to learn that the Sam Northcutts are to again become citizens of Statesboro, after an absence of three or four years spent in North Georgia.

Mr. Northcutt arrived during the week and assumed a position with Barnes Funeral Home, he having been engaged in the undertaking business in recent years with his brother Fred at Toccoa. Following the closing of the school at Toccoa in the spring, Mr. Northcutt will return here with the junior members of his family.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Memorial services will be held for Clyde Thomas Dixon, 8 1/2, Sunday, Feb. 25th, at the Presbyterian church in Statesboro at 4 o'clock. Clyde T. Dixon, son of Mrs. George T. Dixon and the late Mr. Dixon, met accidental death while serving in the Southwest Pacific on Nov. 10, 1943. The former Miss Leona Gertrude Deal, is making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Deal.

Artis deVot is an Americanist artist born in Iowa. She made her debut as a concert harpist in Boston in her teens and after graduating from the New England Conservatory she sailed for an extended stay in Europe. There she studied and gave concerts, and these people have contributed a total of $6,618.75. Upshaw Was Speaker At Tuesday Luncheon

E. N. Upshaw, popular insurance executive from Savannah, who is a frequent visitor in this community, was speaker Tuesday at the luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Incidentally, the attendance at this meeting almost broke a record for number, and the address was highly applauded.

Mr. Upshaw, well known as a public speaker, came by invitation of President Glenn Jennings, and his talk was along the line of post-war planning. He chose the social side as the matter of greatest importance, and stressed the need for planning for the future guidance of the youth of today—who will be our voters tomorrow.

WAR NEWS FROM THE S.P.

Mrs. art square says she hopes the government will make her son, tiny square, now a copper, a brigadier-de, she says she sees when they are creating a great many brigadiers, and she thinks tiny deserves a promotion ansoforth. he hell a machine gun nest in the south pacific nearly all day by hisself.

cpl. tiny moore has sent several soveeners home from new genny and other places. he sent a pair of specs he taken off a dead jap, also a large bunch of hair from a jap's head, he ketches the jap sneaking around his fox-hole, so he reached out and grabbed him by the hair. he got loose when his hair pulled out.

tiny sent a dress like the wimmen wear on saipan. mrs. square is using it for a bill for her baby. tiny has captured a large number of guns and trench mortars and other parrypneralia, but he can't get a priority to send these things home to his ma. if it was a dog he might get it shipped by air-plane ansoforth.

tiny has made a good soldier. he has not been sick a day since he went over, as he has been sending back a right smart of red-dy cash each month, his pa is not able to do much manual labor except something like fishing or playing checkers at the city hall ansoforth.

HON. HOLSUM MOORE ENTERTAINS

a great concourse of friends and loved ones gathered at the home of hon. holsum moore last sunday to extend hearty congratulations on his 63 birthday and partake of the fine stir served in the dining room for dinner. a nice salad course was served, and some were disappointed because no turkey or chicken was present.

hon. moore talked at length about himself and how he was fetched up, all of which proved he is a self-made man, even if the job is unfinished. he has been in politics 3 times: he ran for the house twice and for kurrier 1 time, but as the voters did not do what he promised, he remained at home.

hon. moore has made a great success in his various undertakings ansoforth. he has laid some bricks, knows how to use a saw and hammer, is a expert fisherman in season, has farmed on the halves, ran a small store for 3 months: he sold on credit and his capital was gone in that time, and he has also done some fine painting.

hon. holsum moore is a useful citizen. he sings in the quire, takes up collections, and teaches a class in sunday school till his eyes went bad on him. his large family has been keeping him up fairly well since he sprung his vertebrae 6 years ago while helping mr. art square kill a hog for his liver.

IT IS THUSLY EVERYWHERE

The place where I work (and make fairly enough money each month to pay income tax deductions and about half of my living expenses) employs about 175 persons of both sexes, two races, and a dozen or more different religious beliefs. We serve about 900 meals per day including breakfast and dinner—which they call lunch—and supper which they call dinner.

Among our employees and workers and helpers we find plenty of ability and much inefficiency and so forth—when it comes to a question of economy and attentiveness to things generally.

About one out of ten knows how to close an ice box lid. We have eight ice boxes scattered around.

At least 2 out of 30 know when an electric light should be turned off because it's not needed in daylight.

Around 5 out of forty prefer to raise the windows and open the doors rather than cut the steam out of the radiator in a room.

One person in 5 (in the kitchen) uses exactly enough soap and powder for certain work: the others use mostly soap and powder with a little water added to make the mess soft; never less than twice too much.

Only 3 persons out of 50 come ahead of time; the rest of the folks are from 5 minutes to one hour late, but we have a war on.

One person out of 10 is saving some money from earnings: two persons out of 5 are spending their income before they get it. The balance of us are on a nip and tuck basis, and sometimes a "tick" here or there draw. (Broke all of the time.)

VITAMINS, CALORIES & COMPANY

I heard a nutrition expert discourse for about an hour a few days ago. She knew all about foods and vitamins and calories. All of this talk and information made me worry about my poor Uncle Joe who died in 1915 without having known much about vitamins or what kind of food to eat.

My Uncle Joe might have been living today if he had known of and had the benefit of vitamins. Uncle Joe would have been 94 years old if he had lived to have seen August 24, 1915, but he passed on in July. He took things as they came, and left the valuable things in life for the generations to follow.

Aunt Minervy and Aunt Julie, his second and third wives, evidently sifted all of the vitamins out of his corn-bread; boiled all of the vitamins out of his collards and turnip salad; baked all of the vitamins out of his wheat bread, and he could not replace them at the drug store, as the vitamin makers had not taken over. So there he was sort of pousy.

I have figured that my Uncle Joe would have been 124 years old now if he could of had vitamins. He was naturally healthy without vitamins, but just think what a man he would have been if vitamins had been available. He took his sunshine raw, and not ultra-violet. He ate what he could get and possibly ate vitamins that nature provided, but if he did so, he was ignorant of the good they were doing him.

WOUNDED BY JAP MINE, BACK AT WORK AT G. E.

He stated that he was at Stalag Luft 1. A bulletin devoted to war prisoners reveal that this camp is located at Barth, Pomerania, on the Baltic Sea. Since this happy news has been received several letters have been received from various people over the United States who stated that they heard his message and mailed the exact copy of which the government sent to the family.

One of the Earth's Natural Treasures...

Chilean Nitrate Ranks with Gold, Oil, and Other Substances, In Value to Mankind

Huge electric shovels—made in the U.S.A.—rip natural nitrate from the earth in Chile. This is the raw "celite" just as Nature created it.

You think of Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda as a granulated substance, nicely bagged for easy handling to help you make better crops.

Like other natural treasures of the earth, Chilean Nitrate is mined, refined and processed before it is ready to use. The supply of this natural treasure is virtually unlimited. Beds already known contain enough nitrate ore to last for hundreds of years.

Men who produce nitrate are a hardy lot. They live and work in areas where almost nothing grows as it is practically never rains. Many of the engineers and executives are American. Most of their machinery is, too.

Today Chilean Nitrate is so finely processed, thanks to new plants and methods, that it is shipped in bulk from Chile, bagged at American ports.

Because of its natural origin, Chilean Nitrate contains in addition to large proportions of nitrogen and sodium, small amounts of boron, iodine, manganese, copper—34 elements in all—many of which are known to be essential to healthy plant growth.

Easy to Handle... Easy to Use

Natural Chilean Nitrate comes in two forms—Chilean Nitre and Chilean Nitrate. It reaches you in bag, bulk, or in solution, in one-way bags, for easy storage and handling.

STATE-WIDE GROUP STUDY PROBLEMS

School Bus Transportation Being Given Thought By Committee of Educators

Athens, Feb. 12.—Georgia's rural children are daily running an "unnecessary gamut of safety and health hazards," due to the status of school bus transportation, it was revealed recently by a committee of educators which made a study of that phase of the state educational system under auspices of the agricultural and industrial development board and co-operating agencies.

The report declares that "not without reason, pupil transportation" has been called the step-child of the school program, and that as at present operated it "does not provide sufficiently for the health and convenience of pupils."

Furthermore, it is asserted, "evidence presented in this report reveals that some of the equipment in use is not only makeshift, but actually hazardous to the safety and health of children; drivers in some instances have been incompetent or criminally careless; routes have been duplicated because of competition among the school districts; scheduling and routing practices often have placed unnecessary strains upon the health and convenience of passengers."

The school bus transportation system, operated sometimes by county, and sometimes by school districts, cost $3,000,000 in 1944, the report says.

Recommending a system of central purchasing of buses, the committee says that the 2,000 buses needed in 1945 as replacements could be bought at a saving of $500,000.

Other remedies suggested to correct the existing situation are:

1. Place responsibility of providing transportation services in the county board of education.

2. Vest the state board of education with the power to adopt rules and regulations to obtain uniformity, economy and safety.

3. Prevent members of the state board of education or of the state department of education, members of county boards of education and county school superintendents from being financially interested in the bus transportation business.

Dr. O. C. Aderhold, director of the education panel of the board, related the findings of the committee, incorporated in a special report which will be made available to the legislature.

Recommendations to correct the existing conditions are made in the report, all of which must have legislative approval.

The investigating committee was comprised mostly of county school superintendents and its membership follows: W. E. McElveen, Statesboro; Percy P. Jones, Colquitt; Grady McKinney, Hawkinsville; N. A. Rogers, Franklin; C. J. Hicks, Conyers; C. A. Shealey, Sandersville; J. J. Medlin, Rome; R. E. Hood, Brunswick; Grady Jarrard, Gainesville; Mason Williams, Monroe; P. H. DeBeauvoir, Warrenton; L. O. Rogers, chairman, Moultrie; Claude Purcell, Atlanta, and Dr. J. E. Greene, Athens.

The education panel of the Development Board is composed of State School Superintendent M. D. Collins, Atlanta; Mrs. Frank C. David, Columbus, and Wilson Williams, Atlanta.
